

> The answer to dating

Solve your "flying-solo" woes

Something strange happens to our social life post-high school/college. During our teen years, dating is simple and fun. We move in and out of our set high-school groups, never worrying about the safety of dating Tiffany from the track team or Kyle from biology. You knew who these people were. In fact, you probably knew their parents, grades, future aspirations and possibly their medical history.

Now, though, things are different. Your dating pool isn't your senior class of 600 kids. Instead, your dating pool is ... well ... anyone and everyone. So where do you start without that convenience? Back then you could pass notes in class (Do you like me? Check yes or no.), that probably won't cut it with your cube mate.

This leads to several questions: How do you pick whom to date? How do you approach that person? Is it safe to date them? I mean, are they psycho? In this day and age, we just can't be too careful.

But does that mean when you don't know the answers to these questions, you should cut dating out of your life? Not at all. You should simply turn to some professionals for assistance, and that's where 8minuteDating.com steps in the door.

8minuteDating.com is an innovative way to meet your match, someone to date or a new friend. Whether you have lived here your entire life or just moved to the area and don't know a soul, 8minuteDating.com is an event you don't want to miss.

Visit 8minuteDating.com to register for an event at a local restaurant or club. At each event, you and up to 99 other participants will meet 8 people within your same demographic group for 8 minutes each. Everyone is single and looking for someone to date, so you can cut out the normal guessing game that you encounter on Friday nights. At the end of your 8 fun dates, you'll log onto 8minuteDating.com to select those individuals that you would like to meet again for dating, friendship or business. Until that point, your contact information is completely safe, and even then, it is up to you what degree of information to release — from just e-mail to phone number to address.

These events are definitely revolutionizing the dating world. More than 90 percent of all 8minuteDating.com attendees report that they have met someone they want to see again through an event. But for those few people that don't find that other someone, 8minuteDating.com sends them to their next event for free. With such a guarantee and an inviting atmosphere, attendees can relax and just have a nice time. And that's good news for those Atlanta singles that are out to enjoy themselves and meet a new crowd of people.

sick of this?

The other story

First and foremost, your 8minuteDating.com goal is most likely to meet your next prospective date, but there is another side to the story. At each event, you'll have the chance to make great friends — both male and female. So for you Atlanta newcomers, this is the ideal way to find a niche within your new home.